PRINCIPAL'S NEWS

Welcome to the last week of Term 2. It is always a privilege to be in our school. From the BEAR reading volunteers, the student leaders organising assembly and supporting other students and staff, to reading to classes and seeing their wonderful work. Thank you to our families for their support. To our staff, a big thanks as well. I hope everyone will have a restful break and enjoy time with family and friends ready to return fresh in Term 3.

This week we celebrate the history, culture and achievements of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in schools with NAIDOC Week. Our classes have access to online virtual celebrations and video streams to celebrate as well as in class. Bayside Council are running NAIDOC Week events, which students can enter. Please see more information at the back of our newsletter.

This week I am visiting each class to read to our students. The book this term is titled 'When You're Older' by Sofie Laguna and Judy Watson which students have really enjoyed so far. We have talked about how we care for others and how they show they care for us.

Each student has also been asked to show me a piece of written work they are proud of and tell me why. So far I have seen impressive persuasive writing, scientific diagrams and magnificent illustrations!

A big thank you to our wonderful PPS P&C for organising Pizza Day with Rocketboy for our students and staff. It was a fun yummy treat and really enjoyed and appreciated by everyone.

Student reports were sent home with students last Friday. I hope parents enjoyed reading about their child/ren's progress and achievements so far this year, as well as areas for further development.

Thank you to Mrs Karro who has been teaching our COVID Intensive program in Term 1 and 2 which finishes this term. So many students have benefitted from the small group instruction in literacy and numeracy. Thank you also for teaching classes when we were unable to secure casual teachers. Mrs Karro will continue casual teaching with us next term.

Our school song and house names review committee and the uniform review committee met last week. A survey will be sent to all families early next term to gain your feedback and suggestions. Staff and students will be involved in surveys here at school.

I wish students and their families a wonderful and safe holiday break.

Nicole Mayhew
Principal
